Dear Mr Galalae

I note what you say, and shall present this too to the panel for their information. In a technical sense, your request for information under the Data Protection Act is separate from the disciplinary panel, and will continue to be processed by the Data Protection Officer.

yours sincerely

Peter Gambles

Dear Dr. Gambles,

Since I consider access to the files I have requested from the Panel (but that are still being withheld by the Data Protection Officer) vital, I will, upon their receipt, submit an additional document for the Panel's scrutiny regardless of the decisions it reaches on the 3rd of September. I therefore wish to make clear my continued interest in receiving the said files and my intent of presenting the Panel with a complete version of the events here in question as seen from my perspective. My letter of appeal, dated June 12, was prepared in haste and without access to the evidence and is thus incomplete. A further submission would add considerably to the proper understanding of the incident, as well as to the events that preceded and succeeded it.

I look forward to hearing the outcome of the Panel's forthcoming meeting.

Sincerely,

Kevin Galalae

Dear Mr Galalae

Thank you for this message which I have now discussed with a colleague from our Legal Services. The panel will meet on 3 September as has been arranged, and will consider the material before it - which has been copied in its entirety to you, and includes your letter of appeal dated 12 June. If in the view of the panel the further submission you wish more time to prepare could materially affect its decision then it has the authority to adjourn. Your request that it do so will be laid before the panel.

yours sincerely

Peter Gambles

Dear Dr. Gambles,

Since it is already the 1st of September and I have not yet received the materials I have requested from the Data Protection Officer, I ask that the Panel cancels the 4th of September meeting and reschedules it for the end of the month. This will give the Data Protection Officer more than enough time to comply with my request for access to the evidence contained in the two files that I am still waiting for and will give me time to analyse the files in question once I have received them and to prepare and submit my interpretation of the facts to the Panel's scrutiny. I am sure you will agree it makes no sense for the Panel to meet without giving me the opportunity to do so.

Regards,

Kevin Galalae
